Deonna, we had 483 drug exposed infants in 2016, not 560. The total for type of drug is not unique counts. Children are often born exposed to multiple substances. The numbers for 2017 for Kin placements and drug exposed infants is in the email I sent for the CBS news. 2017 1st quarter drug exposed is 152, as of May kin placements are up to 27.8%.

Hope this helps.

Good morning,

Chris Harris at the Medical Examiner's office is pulling together talking points for Armond about the impact of opiates on various departments of the county so I'm providing him with info.   Attached was the last set of points I did for media at the end of April. Please take a look and let me know if these still work. Do we have any 2017 numbers we could add to make the data more current? Feel free to edit. I'd like to get this back to Chris today.

Regards,
Deonna Kirkpatrick

Sure. I can get you something today.
It'll be increased number of cases for our START unit which reflects cases where mom and/or baby was drug exposed prenatally or at birth.
We have seen an increase in overall custodies but that's not all attributed to opiates, it's all substance abuse, mental health, domestic violence, usually a combination.

Deonna Kirkpatrick

Hi Deonna,

I'm working on some talking points for Armond on the impact opioids are having on our various agencies, and I was wondering if you have any hard facts, stats, or numbers on how opioids have impacted your agency. Such as an increased number of foster kids or the cost for additional services need as a result of opioids.

Chris
